First Stop: Inspirational Women in Business...

It's a fact, women who sit on boards remain few and far between. But what if you could learn from their professional experiences face to face?

Presenting AIM's On Board to Board series – a must for women on the way up in their careers. This series, which has developed a cult following in Brisbane, connects women in business with a senior female leader at the top of her chosen field.

Join other like-minded women in management for the chance to hear personal stories, ask questions and learn the unspoken rules for women who “make it” in the business world. The identity of the speaker is a closely guarded secret revealed only to those lucky enough to secure a place at the event.
