JOIN AUSTRALIA'S LARGEST NETWORK FOR MANAGERS

The Australian Institute of Management provides an incredible range of formal and informal learning opportunities for managers at all levels – from an annual international speaker series to best-selling practical management books and contemporary online learning pathways. Known widely for connecting managers from diverse backgrounds to share knowledge and know-how, there is a whole world of benefits to explore with your AIM membership.

Seven Good Reasons to Join AIM Now...

Recognition

Members have the right to use AIM postnominals. They are a symbol of professional success and employers instantly recognise their value. AIM postnominals are: Fellow (FAIM), Associate Fellow (AFAIM) and Member (AIMM) and are assigned based on career experience, management capability and educational background. If you join via this promotion you will be given the postnominals of AIMM instantly.

Professional Development

AIM's learning philosophy is "by managers, for managers" providing practical learning opportunities for all levels of management in business, industry and government. As Australia's largest private provider of short course programs and qualifications, AIM specialises in business, strategy, innovation, leadership, human resources and project management. Members receive preferential rates on all course fees. For a complete list of professional development courses visit www.aimevents.com.au.

Management Bookshop and Graduate Library

Browse and buy from an amazing range of books online at www.managementbooks.com.au or borrow from the AIM Graduate Studies Library for access to management and business books, journals, audio-visual resources, CD-ROMS and training tools. The Library offers 8000 items, 24/7 online access to the catalogue and free delivery across Queensland and the Northern Territory.

Management Today

Members receive an annual subscription (10 issues) to Australia's leading specialist management magazine, Management Today. The publication is a contemporary resource for managers containing articles, interviews, case studies, tips and book reviews. Found on newstands for $5.95 per issue, Management Today is free to members.

Agenda

This 'what's on' newsletter contains the latest information on AIM's upcoming professional development opportunities including events, training and news from around the AIM network.

MemberNet

Gain 24/7 access to the latest research from the comfort of your desk.

Online databases including Business Source Corporate and Wilson Business provide access to the latest full-text articles from journals like Harvard Business Review and MIT Sloan Management Review.

Events and Networking

Members receive preferential rates and exclusive invitations to a comprehensive annual events calendar featuring local and international experts. Many managers use these events as networking opportunities to grow their business and enhance their career. View upcoming events at www.aimevents.com.au.
